new paved parking lot with 92 additional parking places, a new fence around the football field, and a facelift for the gym are projects that have improved the exterior of the school and have, during the last year, enhanced the perception that visitors have of Zion Chapel. In the meantime student participation in state-wide activities and competitions have convinced outsiders that Zion Chapel students "will go there!" Kendra Ward was named All-American Cheerleader while attending a cheerleading camp at Gulf Coast Junior College in Panama City, Florida. Angie Jinright was chosen WTVY's "Student of the Week" after submitting a resume to the news staff at the television station. Exhibits entered by the members of both the FHA and FFA won prizes at the exhibition contest sponsored by the National Peanut Festival Association. Angie and Ashley Laney both won places in a FHA sponsored literary competition called Star Events. Courtney Moran, Wyndi Rugg, Bridget Money, Wesley Clark, and Josh Grantham were named to the 1997 All-SCAC basketball team. Julie Carter and Ashley Thomas earned their State FFA Farm Degrees. The Rebel baseball team was named Coffee County Champs after defeating New Brockton and Kinston. Laura Williams earned a place on the Alabama State FBLA Battle of the States Team and later in the year was elected president of the Alabama State Chapter of FBLA at the State Conference. At this same State Conference the Zion Chapel Chapter of FBLA was named the state's Outstanding Chapter of the Year. What else can be said? Zion Chapel students "will go there!"

We Will Go There!

Matthew Richards (top, left) is dressed up as a skeleton on Homecoming Costume Day. Matthew is in the seventh grade. Kendra Ward and Tasha Cooper (bottom, left) are attending FBLA OTC at Jefferson Davis Junior college in Brewton, Alabama. Coach Doug Branson and Coach Matt Rodgers (top, right) are happy about the refreshments that are about to be served at a shower for Mrs. Stacy Coale. Laura Williams, Bridget Money, Mrs. Rachel Bryan, and Suzanna Stinson (middle) show off the sweatshirts they bought while attending the National Fall Leadership Conference. Suzanna Stinson, Brenesha Bradshaw, Tessa Hall, Mandi Batchelor, and Danielle Richards (bottom, left) prepare a meal for themselves in the Home Ec department.

Hanna Whitt (below) works at the Coffee Country Board of Education. She is a member of the Community Co-Op Class and this is her job. Hanna was also selected DAR Good Citizen. Jim Turner and Matthew Richards (top) show off the cans of food brought in by the seventh grade for the canned food drive sponsored by the school. The proceeds were donated to patients on kidney dialysis. Mr. John McCrory and some of his students (below) show off their new FFA t-shirts during Vocational Education Week. The FFA members wearing the tshirts are Jonathan Morgan, Julie Carter, Bridget Money, Jimbo Cole, Courtney Moran, Mr. John McCrory, Ashley Thomas, Vanessa McCraney, and Timothy Alcuri.

win Day was scheduled for Tuesday of Homecoming Week and a different activity was scheduled for each day of the rest of the week. All activities were designed to promote interest and school spirit. On Twin Day students were to dress as close to same as they could. Wednesday was opposite day and students wore clothes backwards and shoes on the wrong feet. Thursday was costume day and students dressed in their favorite Halloween costumes. A prize was given for the best costume and Dana Boggess was the winner. She was dressed as a French maid. Friday was a combination hippie and spirit day. A bonfire was held on Thursday night and a parade was held on Friday afternoon. The class of 1987 was the honored class.

Wyndi Merrell Rugg, the daughter of Phil and Donna Rugg, is the 1996-97 Homecoming Queen. Wyndi is a member of the varsity cheerleading squad, the girls basketball and softball teams, FHA, Beta Club, and FFA. She serves as parliamentarian for FFA and as historian for the Beta Club. Wyndi had a leading role in the play produced in the fall by the speech and drama class. Her hobbies are bow shooting, riding four-wheelers, hunting, and playing basketball. Wyndi was crowned in a pre-game ceremony at the homecoming game.

Senior Attendant Amber Shiver (top) is the daughter of Ronny and Barbara Shiver. She is a member of the Zion Chapel Band, Beta Club, Annual Staff, and Student Government Association. Amber is president of SGA. Sophomore Attendant Michelle McIntosh (bottom) is the daughter of Betty McIntosh and Glen McIntosh. She is a member of FBLA, Spanish Club, Beta Club, FHA, and the concert band.

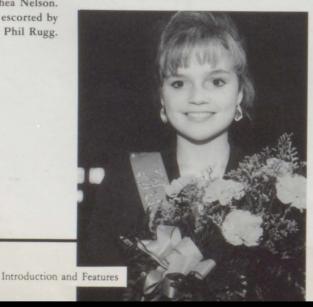

Suzanna Stinson (top), junior attendant is a member of FFA, FHA, FBLA, and the varsity cheerleading squad. She is the daughter of Jackie and David Stinson. Daphne Jinright (below), freshman attendant, is a member of the Zion Chapel Band, FBLA, and Junior Beta Club. She is active in the Zion Chapel Baptist Church. Daphne is the daughter of Robert and Jackie linright.

Senior high English instructor Sonya Shaw (above, right) and her student intern Erin Anderson (above, left) dressed alike on twin day. They are wearing all black clothes and black lipstick. Maybe they are trying to be reminiscent of inhabitants of Salem, Massachusetts. The senior homecoming attendant is Amber Shiver (middle). The junior homecoming attendant is Suzanna Stinson (bottom). Homecoming Queen Wyndi Rugg (at left) is crowned by last year's queen Shea Nelson. Wyndi is escorted by her father Phil Rugg.

The homecoming court is made up of an attendant from each of the four senior high grades. Those attendants and their escorts are Mike Johnson, Michell McIntosh, Ronny Shiver, Amber Shiver, Phil Rugg, Wyndi Rugg, Suzanna Stinson, David Stinson, Daphne Jinright, and Robert Jinright.

the first-place door decorations prepared by the Senior Class. Second place went to the junior class with the theme "Rebels, Rope The Mustangs!" "It takes A Real Rebel to Drive a Mustang!" was the theme of the third-place winner prepared by the members of the Community Co-op Class. The banner decorating contest was won by the junior class with the theme "Ride the Little Horsy Down the Field, If They Don't Watch Out They're Gonna Get Killed!" Second-place winners were the seniors who prepared a banner entitled "Rebels, The Heart Beat of America!" "Brand the Mustangs" was the theme of the sophomore's door who won third place in the contest.

onna Suzanna Stinson was crowned Campus Beauty at the annual Rebel Beauty Pageant sponsored by the yearbook staff. Suzanna, as she is known by her friends, is a seventeenyear-old junior. She is the daughter of David and Jackie Stinson. She is a member of FBLA, FFA, FHA, the speech and drama club, and the varsity cheerleading squad. Suzanna enjoys coloring, cheering, riding four-wheelers, and mud riding. Her future plans are to attend Auburn University and major in social work. Christy Elaine Houston was the second runner-up in this division. She is a fifteen-year-old sophomore and is the daughter of Donnie and Pam Qualls. First runner-up Shannon Simmons is the daughter of Judy Simmons. She is a junior who is seventeen years old.

Hannah Manning (top) is the second runner-up in the Little Miss Beauty division. Ashley Smith (middle) is the second runner-up in the Elementary Beauty division. Anna Marie Anderson (bottom) is the first runner-up in the Elementary Beauty division.

Meagan Ann Anderson (top) is watching while the elementary beauty is being selected. She has been crowned Little Miss Beauty and her sister, Anna Marie is in the contest she is watching. Suzanna Stinson (middle) is crowned Campus Beauty by the 1996 title holder Courtney Moran. Kayla Eddins (at right) is the 1997 Junior Miss Beauty. Elementary beauty Ashley Wambles and Little Miss Beauty Meagan Ann Anderson (below) are holding trophies, crowns, and flowers that they have presented as winners in their respective divisions.

Campus Beauties

The Junior Beauty and her court are Anna Marie Anderson, first runner-up, Ashley Wambles, Junior Beauty, and Ashley smith, second runner-up, they are pictured with the trophies and flowers they were presented by the members of the yearbook staff who sponsored the pageant.

K ayla Renae Eddins, a fourteen-year-old freshman, was crowned Junior Beauty for 1997. She is the daughter of Larry and Marilyn Eddins. Kayla is a member of Junior Beta, SGA, and FBLA. She served as co-captain of the junior varsity cheerleading squad. Kayla says that when she graduates from high school she would like to pursue a career in the medical field. She says that her favorite activities that do not involve school are swimming and playing the piano. Her favorite school activity is cheering for the junior varsity. First runner-up was Morgan Emily Hodge. Morgan is a freshman, she is fourteen, and she is the daughter of Mac and Melinda Hodge. Another fourteen-year-old freshman, Jill Jinright, was named as second runner-up. Jill is the daughter of Ed and Nicki Jinright.

Campus Beauties

eagan Ann Anderson, a first grader who is seven years old, was chosen from among fifteen contestants to be crowned as Little Miss Campus Beauty. She is the daughter of Kim and Angie Anderson. She is a Zion Chapel Midget cheerleader. Megan enjoys playing games, riding her bicycle, roller blading, and singing. She says that in the future she would like to become a doctor. Meagan has an older sister, Anna Marie, who is in the fifth grade. First runner-up was Ashley Nicole Bailey, the daughter of Dave and Nelda Bailey. Ashley is six years old and in Kindergarten. Hannah Manning was second runner-up. She is seven years old and in the second grade. Hannah is the daughter of Johnny and Sherri Manning.

Ashley Wambles (top) was one of seven contestants who competed in the Elementary Beauty division. This division is for contestants in grades four through six. Eleven contestants competed in the Junior Beauty division and some of them (middle) are pictured as they came back on stage in a group for the judges to view one more time. Junior Beauty Kayla Eddins (bottom) wore a striking blue suit with a darker blue collar. This outfit was quite a contrast to the overalls she wore to pageant practice.

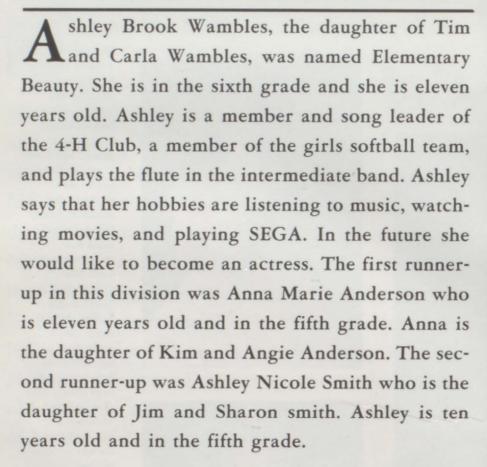

The winners (above) just keep mounting up. Now the winners of the Junior Beauty, Elementary Beauty, and Little Miss divisions can be seen sitting in the audience. Ashley Bailey (middle) is the first runner-up in the Little Miss division. Junior Beauty Kayla Eddins (bottom) shows the audience a beautiful smile. Before going on stage for the first time Meagan Anderson (at left) said that she was nervous. She had practiced earlier in the day but she was still excited. Well, she doesn't look so nervous now that she is holding her flowers and wearing her crown.

The Elementary Beauty Court includes second runner-up Hannah Manning, Little Miss Beauty Meagan Amderson, and first runner-up Ashley Bailey.

Campus Beauty Suzanna Stinson (top) wore a dress that was highlighted on the bodice with rhinestones and pearls. The neckline was tilted up in the back so that the dress created a frame. The front featured a sweetheart neckline. The 1996 Elementary Beauty Haley Flowers (middle) reaches way up so that she can place the crown on Ashley Wambles. Junior Beauty Kayla Eddins (bottom) dips so that she can be crowned.

Elementary Beauty Ashley Wambles (at left) wore a black knee-length "Sunday" dress. All Elementary Beauty contestants were required to wear street length or "Sunday" dresses for the pageant. The 1996 Elementary Beauty Stephanie Berry (top) crowned this year's winner, Meagan Ann Anderson. The seven contestants who competed for the title of 1997 Campus Beauty (bottom) are Bridget Money, Heather Vaughan, Christy Houston, Laura Williams, Shasta Simmons, Shannon Simmons, and Suzanna Stinson.

Daniel Pridgen and Kelyn Williams take a break, deserved or underserved, on the steps to the high school building.

Members of the art class are caught at work during their second period class. They are learning to paint scenes using oils.

he reality of the lives of the young people who attend Zion Chapel High School is that it takes a minimum of 12 years to get a high school diploma. Some would call it a necessary evil, others would call it the stepping stone to the future. No matter what, there have always been events in high school that students enjoy. In making one's high school experience a memorable one, one must participate in many ways . . . Whether it be the last dance at the Junior-Senior Prom, putting on a Zion Chapel sweatshirt, or one from Auburn or one from Alabama, or sitting through a class that was not necessarily enjoyable, fun has been there to be had at Zion Chapel High School. Although everyone views fun differently we all find various ways to add fun into our vigorous lives. Whatever form it may be, we have all been able to make our stay at Zion Chapel a little more exciting.

Angie Jinright (at right) was chosen as a WTVY "Student of the Week." Angie, the valedictorian of the Class of 1997, is the daughter of Robert and Jackie Jinright. The senior class officers (below) are Treasurer Brian Sullivan, Vice President Wyndi Rugg, President Hanna Whitt, and Secretary Angie Jinright.

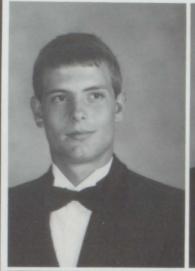

Hanna Whitt (at right), Amber Shiver, and Timothy Alcuri (below) were chosen to be Dare Role Models for the fifth grade students at Zion Chapel who took a course in drug education taught by Officer Donnie Farris of the Coffee County Sheriff's Department. During the classes drugs and the effects of drugs can have on a person were discussed during the classes. Hanna, Timothy, and Amber answered questions about themselves and their school life.

Eleventh Grade

Juniors researched and produced family trees.

Ancestor hunting became a project conducted by eleventh grade students enrolled in Advanced English. The hunting had to take place so that a family tree could be constructed which was the actual outcome of the project. After the family trees were constructed "show and tell" time took place in class. There was no limit to the information students could bring to class to share. Some of this information included pictures, unusual names, superstitions, family holiday traditions, wedding traditions, jump rope rhymes, old sayings, family stories, quilt patterns or artifacts, toys, and grave markers. For a while the room of Mrs. Sonya Shaw, class instructor, looked like a museum when all the artifacts were brought to school. When one student was asked about the assignment, he said, "I think that it is good to go back and find out who your family is and what they have done in the past."

Students who were enrolled in the eleventh grade but are not pictured are Allen Gilmore, David Mitchell, Amanda Sanders, Michele Sawyer, Richard Smith, Timothy Taylor, and Douglas Williams.

Shasta Simmons attended the HOBY Seminar.

Shasta Simmons attended the South Alabama Hugh O'Brian Youth (HOBY) Leadership Seminar during her sophomore year. Shasta, the daughter of Ed and Audrey Simmons, was chosen by the faculty to attend this seminar for high school sophomores who portray outstanding leadership abilities. The seminar teaches its participants "how to think," not what to think as the students explore the topics of "America's Incentive System."

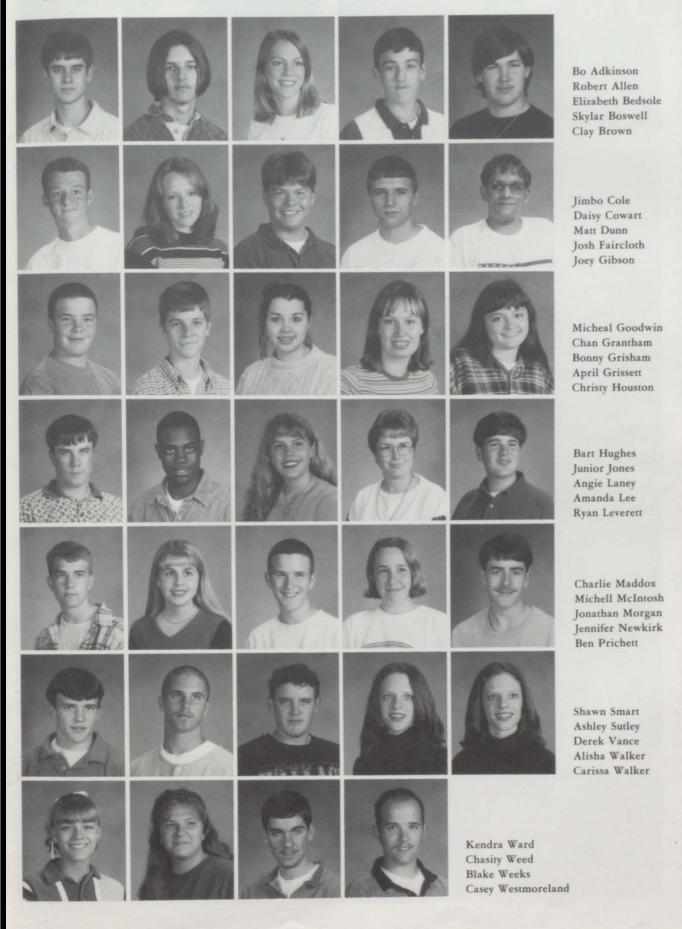

Michell McIntosh, Kendra Ward, and Dr. Linda Ingram look over artifacts brought for display by Mr. Howard Hooper, a missionary in Honduras. He presented a program for the Spanish classes of Mrs. Ana Mendez and the history classes of Mr. Matt Rodgers. Mr. Hooper explained that Honduras is the second poorest country in the Western Hemisphere and that the people still use horses and donkeys as transportation. He said that the main food of the Hondurian people is rice and beans served with tortillas and that there are no grocery stores. Residents of the country must purchase their vegetables at local markets. They also have to purchase bottled water because the water of the country is not drinkable.

Zion Chapel gets Performing Arts Grant.

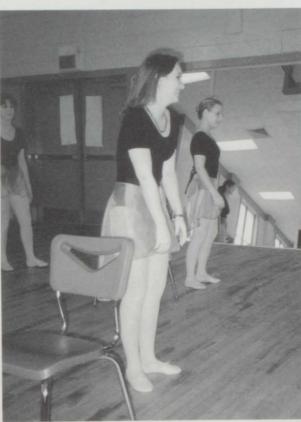

The girls met each Wednesday for an hour to talk about their routines, music, and attire, as well as to practice their dancing. They wore black leotards, black sweaters, pink tights, and pink ballet shoes. If they wanted, each could buy a black skirt to go over the leotards.

There were plans for the girls to go to Dothan and to Atlanta to see a play called "My Fair Lady." They also went to see their teacher's ballet class.

Their teachers's name was Laura Brown and she is a former student from Zion Chapel. This class is paid for by the Performing Arts Association, so the girls did not have to pay for them. They took jazz, hip hop, and ballet.

Sixth Grade

The Sixth Grade math classes under the instruction of Mrs. Jane Coale participated in a county-wide competition called "Math Counts." The participants are Josh Roberts, Mrs. Jane Coale, Adrianne Nelson, Kasey Manning, Beverly Boutwell, Amy Manning, Jessica Hathcock, Bertha Scott, Chris Summerlin, Seth Legg, Jonah Edmundson, Tracy Banks, and Samantha McWaters.

There are four Little Misses in the First Grade.

Four participants in the 1997 National Peanut Festival Pageant are members of the first grade at Zion Chapel Elementary School. The four Little Misses are divided in two sections of the first grade. Mrs. Peggy Storey's class has three Little Misses - Summer Parker, Brittany Bass, and Brooke Stinson. The fourth Little Miss, Jessi Johnson, is a member of Mrs. Susan Howell's first grade class. Each of the Little Misses holds a title from a different pageant in the area. Summer Parker holds the title of Little Miss Zion Chapel, Jessi Johnson hold the title of Little Miss Elba, Brittany Bass holds the title of Little Miss Brundidge, and Brooke Stinson hold the title of Little Miss Pinckard. Each of these Little Misses are not eligible to participate in the 1997 National Peanut Festival Pageant which will be held in Dothan during the fal of 1997.

Dare Program is conducted by the Coffee County Sheriff's Department in the elementary school.

The Dare Program is a program conducted by the Sheriff's Department in Coffee County. Its purpose is to teach young children of the dangers of getting involved with drugs. Part of the presentation includes the showing of a video which focuses on educating students about the dangers involved in drugs and taking drugs from strangers. Officer Donnie Farris is the Coffee County Dare Officer. He came into the school for classes with several grades including Kindergarten and First Grade. Part of this education program includes worksheets containing information about who should administer medicine and who should not. Students were also given coloring books on the subject of drug safety. On other occasions the Canine Corps, or "drug dogs" were brought into the school for demonstrations on how the dogs could sniff out druggs. Pictured here is officer Jack Herbert and one of the dogs.

Sports

Zion Chapel has a full range of team sports for both boys and girls.

During the 1996-97 school year there was a varsity football team, a boys and a girls varsity basketball team, a b-team for boys, a boys and a girls junior varsity basketball team, a softball team, and a baseball team. In addition to team sports there was a marching band and a concert band.

The sports teams were small in some cases and Zion Chapel was not always in the winning column but each of the teams kept trying. The varsity football team ended the season with just enough players to field a team. The baseball team had just enough players to play each of the positions. However, the baseball team earned the title of Coffee County Champions by beating both New Brockton and Kinston in the Coffee County Tournament.

Sports

Dr. Linda Ingram, principal, is ultimately responsible for all the sports at Zion Chapel. She serves as the Athletic Director.

Amber Shiver is a member of the yearbook staff who worked on the band section. She is a member of the band and president of the Student Government Association.

Staff member Vanessa McCraney worked on the cheerleader pages and some of the other sports pages. She is a varsity cheerleader and a vice president of the FBLA.

Staff Member Brian Sullivan worked on the faculty section and part of the sports pages.

Timothy Alcuri is a staff member who did the football pages. He was a member of the varsity football squad before being injured.

Staff member Courtney Moran gathered the information for the basketball pages in the sports section.

Staff member Ashley Thomas (above) made sure that all faculty and staff members had their pictures made. Chan Grantham (left) displays campaign materials he has gathered while visiting the campaign booths during the FBLA State Conference.

Organizations

Future Business Leaders of America, FFA, Future Homemakers of America, Beta Club, Student Government Association, and the Science Fiction Readers Association are the clubs from which a Zion Chapel student may choose to join.

FBLA, FFA, and FHA are vocational student organizations that are an integral part of the vocational curriculum. Members from each organization compete in academic competitions at the local, district, and state levels. In addition, there is an opportunity to compete at the national level. Laura Williams competed in Desktop Publishing at the FBLA National Leadership Conference in Anaheim, California. Ashley Laney competed in the Star Events at the FHA National Conference which was also held in California.

Chris Archie competed in the State Beta Club Convention and won third place in the Arts and Crafts competition.

Future Business Leaders of America

Mrs. Rachel Bryan (left) and Mrs. Stacy Coale (right) are the sponsors of the Zion Chapel Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America. Mrs. Bryan has been the sponsor of this chapter for twelve years. During the last two years she has had a great deal of help from her co-sponsor, Mrs. Coale.

Officers for the 1996-97 Future Business Leaders of America are Vice President Heather Vaughan, Vice President Tiffany Lewis, Vice President Vanessa McCraney, Recording Secretary Bridget Money, President Laura Williams, Corresponding Secretary Tasha Cooper, Historian Nikki Daniels, Reporter Julie Carter, Parliamentarian Ashley Nelson, Treasurer Twanna Haynes, Vice President Justin Law, and Vice President Ashley Thomas. A vice president was selected from each of the business classes taught by Mrs. Bryan and from each of the business classes taught by Mrs. Coale.

Laura Williams, Mrs. Bryan, Suzanna Stinson, and Bridget Money are enjoying lunch at the Hard Rock Cafe in Atlanta, Georgia, while attending the Southern Region National Fall Leadership Conference. While at the conference Laura participated as a member of the Alabama Battle of the States team.

Ninety-two members were the result of a recruitment and membership drive. Ninety-two members meant that a 24% increase in membership had occurred since during in the last school year there were only 70 members.

During July Mrs. Rachel Bryan, Mrs. Stacy Coale, and Laura Williams attended the National Leadership Conference in Anaheim, California. The Zion Chapel Chapter was recognized at this national conference for completing the national project "Go For The Gold." Mrs. Bryan and Laura attended the Institute for Leaders which was a part of the educational seminars conducted at this conference.

Laura Williams was selected president of the Alabama State Chapter of Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) at the 1997 State Conference. "A Girl for All Seasons" was the theme of Laura's campaign and campaign skit performed by members of the Chapter.

The Zion Chapel Chapter of FBLA was named the State's Outstanding Chapter for the Year at the State Convention and Hanna Whitt placed third in the Job Description Manual Competition. During the business session of the Opening General Session, the Zion Chapel Chapter was recog-

Ashley Laney wins first place in a State FHA competition.

"Peanuts on Parade" was the 1997 theme of the peanut exhibit contest at the National Peanut Festival. The Zion Chapel Chapter of Future Homemakers of America won second place in this event and earned a cash award of a $300.

FHA members Ashley Laney and Angie Laney competed and placed in the Star Events held in Tuscaloosa. Ashley, a senior, competed in the Illustrated Story for the Senior Division and won first place. She was given an hour to read a children's story and prepare for presentation, which was done by acting out the story while reading it in front of judges. She was also given a box with props and 15 minutes to present the story. Angie, a sophomore, competed in the Reading Story contest and won third place. She was given 45 minutes to prepare for presentation, which had to be presented as a teacher would do, such as asking the students questions about the story. She had 15 minutes in which to present the story.

Brandon Smith (left) is going to wait until the last possible minute to put on his cap and gown. Kelyn Williams (middle) enters the auditorium and begins his walk down the aisle to join his classmates. Tiffany Lewis (right) is very happy on this very special occasion.

Wyndi Rugg (left) is very thirsty. Shayne Allen and Timothy Alcuri (middle) are on the stage with the rest of the Class of 1997. Ashley Thomas, Brian Sullivan, and Shayne Allen (right) have a discussion about what they will do when the Senior Tea is over.

Tiffany Lewis, Andre Flowers, Susie Ingram, and Twanna Haynes (left) pose for the photographer just before the Sunday afternoon Baccalaureate begins. Melanie Cape (middle) has not yet put on her cap and gown on this very hot spring afternoon. Kelyn Williams, Hanna Whitt, and Heather Vaughan (right) wait their turn to enter the auditorium.

Class of 1997

The Class of 1997 has graduated from high school and they are throwing their caps in celebration. The chances that each will get back the right cap are slim.

Vanessa McCraney wipes away a tear during the singing of the Alma Mater. Waylen Littlefield is on her left and Bridget Money and Courtney Moran are on her right.

gives the salutatory or the welcome address and Angie Jinright (right) gives the valedictory or farewell address.
Angie was number one in the class and Julie was number two in grade point averages.

Seniors line up to enter the auditorium. They spent a lot of time in lines during their last few days of school. The valedictorian, Angie Jinright, was at the head of the line and Julie Carter, the salutatorian, was second. The rest of the class entered in alphabetical order.

The chorus led by Mr. Michael McKinley sang a song during the Baccalaureate. Seniors Melanie Cape and Susie Ingram are seniors who were a part of the chorus.

Julie Carter (left) is a part of the Line of seniors marching into the football stadium for the graduation ceremonies. She is soon followed by Timothy Alcuri (middle). As soon as graduation was over Crystal Calhoun and Melanie Cape leave the stadium with their diplomas.

Billy Kelley (left) talks to his mom and dad during the Senior Tea. Rev. Raymond Miller (middle) delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon. Wyndi Rugg and her dad, Phil, (right) talk to a friend who has come to take part in the ceremonies for the Class of 1997.

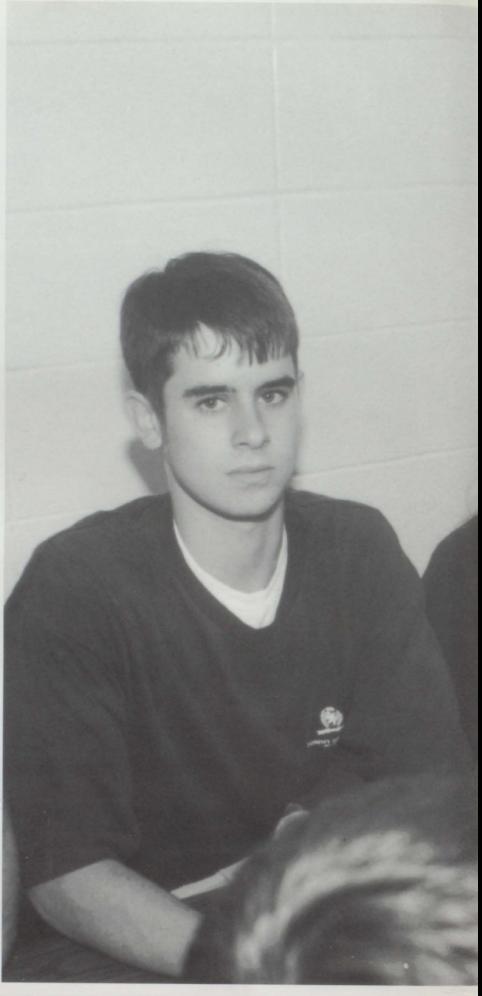

SaLena and Christina Shuman served punch at the Senior Tea. SaLena is a junior and Christina is a freshman.

Coach Doug Branson takes the seventh grade to morning break and supervises them until their next period teacher arrives.

The clarinet section plays in the stands during a Friday night game.

Drum Major Laura Williams directs the band in playing a song on the field.

Miss Zion Chapel High School Wyndi Rugg plays on a school swing set one last time while waiting for the photographer to make official pictures.

Mrs. Bryan's (above) expression tells us that she is telling Timothy Alcuri not to do something. He was with her three periods a day most days and this was a typical expression. Bo Adkison and Suzanna Stinson (left) sit in the same place everyday during lunch.

During the last class meeting of the year, the members of the Class of 1997 chose a class song, a class motto, and a class flower.

The senior chose "For You I Will" by Monica as their class song. And the official class flower is the sunflower. "We're not afraid of tomorrow, we've seen yesterday, and we are living today" was chosen as the class motto.

Senior Class officers were President Hanna Whitt, Vice President Brian Sullivan, Secretary Angie Jinright, and Reporter Wyndi Rugg.

Class sponsors were Mrs. Rachel Bryan, Mr. Doug Branson, Mr. Mark Coale, and Mr. David Collins. Baccalaureate was held in the high school auditorium and Graduation was held on the football field. Thirty seniors participated in the commencement exercises.
